6. BACKGROUND NOTE

India is witnessing a rapid increase in the use of digital payment applications such as mobile wallets, UPI platforms, and online banking services. While these technologies have made financial transactions faster and more convenient, they have also given rise to new forms of cyber frauds, online scams, and financial crimes. Many citizens, especially senior citizens and first-time users, have become victims of phishing, fake payment links, identity theft, and unauthorized transactions. At present, there are scattered provisions under different laws to deal with such issues. However, there is no specific and comprehensive legislation that directly focuses on the protection of digital payment users and the regulation of digital payment service providers. Due to this gap, consumers often face difficulties in getting timely relief, refunds, or compensation for financial losses. With increasing digital literacy and the Government's push toward a cashless economy, it has become necessary to establish a strong legal framework that ensures transparency, accountability, and consumer protection in digital transactions. There is a growing demand for a law that clearly defines the rights of users and the responsibilities of digital payment platforms. Considering these circumstances, participants are required to draft a legislative framework to regulate digital payment services and protect consumers from online financial frauds.

7. TASK FOR PARTICIPANTS

Draft a concise Model Legislative Bill titled:

"The Digital Payment User Protection Act, 2026"
